2012 Building Green Communities Conference
Adaptation: Creating a Resilient Future
Humboldt State University
Arcata, Ca.
July, 2012

Thank you for attending our event, Adaptation: Creating a Resilient Future. Contained in this USB drive are some tools and resources that we hope you'll find informative and useful. These materials come from a variety of sources and have been compiled by many different people – all of whom share our concern for the earth and our future on this planet. Please take the time to look through some of these folders – they're organized by topic to allow easy searching and reference. There are articles from magazines, original research, PowerPoint presentations and videos – all designed and gathered together to help you become educated on the topic and provide you with tools to help you educate others.

Please provide us feedback as you build your community resiliency. We will feature blogs and discussion boards on AdaptationConference.org as well as video archives of our events over time. Please visit our website and contribute to the discussion. Together we will change the world – it's the one thing we're confident of today!
